Cleaner Politics

The people of Appomattox demand that a change shall be made in the manner of the conduct of elections in this county.

More than eighteen hundred ladies and gentlemen came to the polls to vote on the 7th and declared themselves qualified under the law to vote in said election.

More than one hundred were denied the right to vote by the judges of election and thereupon these voters filed affidavits and insist that their rights shall be respected by the officers of the law.

Had these legal voters who were denied the right to vote been counted it is claimed that R. R. Harwood would have been elected treasurer and A. H. Clement elected commonwealth's attorney.

When the Electoral Board refused to give the candidates opposing the office holders any representation among the judges appointed and the Democratic Executive Committee deliberately undertook to circumscribe the rights of the voter, the Electoral Board printing the names of candidates on the ticket, who were also appointed judges of election —thereby making such candidates judges of their own election —are these acts calculated to inspire confidence in our election officers?

If any judge aided a voter who has registered since 1904 it should be reported to this paper.

You have the word for it that all violators of the law would be prosecuted. If you have any evidence now is the time to come forward and let it be known.

If you stand for clean politics in your county you will do it.

A great victory has been won —all honor and glory to those whose determination brought them to the polls. Your county is safe and never again will the people be denied the right to vote.

Your repudiation of unfair methods by the Electoral Board and county committee is unmistakable—the Democratic party shall not be wrecked by these autocrats and their methods.

Commissioners of Election

Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of Appomattox, August 9th, 1923.

We, the undersigned Commissioners of the Democratic Primary Election, held in Appomattox County, on the 7th day of August, 1923, do certify that the above is a true and correct Abstract of the votes cast at said Primary Election, and do therefore determine and declare that R. F. Burke received the highest number of votes cast for County Treasurer; that J. W. Flood, received the highest number of votes cast at said Election for Commonwealth's Attorney; that E. R. Abbitt, received the highest number of votes cast at said Election for Commissioner of the Revenue of said County; and for District Officers, in Clover Hill District, that E. M. Drinkard received the highest number of votes cast at said Election for Supervisor; that B. M. Ferguson, received the highest number of votes cast at said Election for Overseer of the poor.

And in Southside District, that D. N. Twyman received the highest number of votes cast in said Election for Supervisor.

STATE CAPITAL

Revenue Collections Gain.

Collections totaling $2,743,029.09 were received by the Bureau of Internal Revenue for the District of Virginia for the month of July, which is an increase of $197,009.24 over the same period in 1922.

This revenue is derived through the Federal taxes on tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, special taxes, excise taxes, including theaters, motorboats, automobiles, beverage levy and capital stock tax.

Collector J. C. Nost stated that he has experienced very little trouble this year in having the capital stock tax returns being filed on time, the last day of filing being July 31, thereby relieving him of the necessity of imposing a penalty for delinquent returns. This condition is caused largely by the efforts of his force in sending out advance notices calling attention to the filing period.

He also declared that on account of the new system placed in force to give this notice to all taxpayers of record, there are comparatively few delinquent returns and consequently only a very large manufacturing plants in this district. A large number of delinquents were saved from penalty by illness or some other valid excuse named in the regulations.

The penalty for delinquency varies. In the narcotic tax it is 25 per cent. On the other taxes it is 25 per cent, and an offer of compromise.

Auto License Revenue May Reach $8,000,000.

Increase in the number of automobile licenses procured during this year has been registered to such extent that the number up to July 31 exceeds the number for the whole year of 1922 by around 10,000.

Licenses distributed in the present year up to July 27 numbered 211,381, compared to 181,628 for the entire year of 1922, according to the report submitted by James M. Hayes, Jr., of the office of the Secretary of Commonwealth.

In commenting on the growth of the automobile traffic in the State, as shown by the large number of licenses distributed, Governor Trinkle told the General Assembly at the last session that an increase of about 20,000 automobiles a year could be seen in Virginia. Already the increase is 30,000 and there are five months yet to run.

The revenue from the sale of automobile licenses for 1922 was $2,500,000, and it is thought that the estimated revenue for 1923 will be around $3,000,000.

For Better Wheat Yield.

The wheat crop is probably receiving more thought just now than any other grown on Virginia farms. The overproduction of wheat and the present low prices have caused practical farmers to ponder how they can continue to grow wheat without losing money.

Commissioner of Agriculture Koiner urges that less land be put in wheat. In this column yesterday was reprinted from the Progressive Farmer a short article showing how the early plowing of land increases the yield. In the August bulletin of his department, just issued, Mr. Koiner gives in detail suggestions for the preparation of land for wheat. He says: "Wheat requires a firm, friable seed bed, compact, subsoil and good surface drainage. The soil should contain plenty of vegetable matter and plant food and should not be acid. These conditions are usually found in the loam, silt loam, clay-loam and the clay soils. Sandy soils and many of the very heavy clay soils are not suitable for wheat.

Will Seek Change In Absent Voter Law.

R. O. James, Secretary of State of Virginia, in a letter to Postmaster Mooney stated that he would take up with the next Legislature of that State the question of amending laws so that absent Virginia voters might have notaries public sign their ballots instead of postmasters.

Postmaster Mooney last week wrote the secretary, stating that the large number of voters by mail, and the work they asked of the postmaster and his assistant had been interfering seriously with postal business.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

The Latest Gleanings From All Over the State

THINGS SEEN AND HEARD

Lynchburg—B. L. Bishop, 48, sustained a fractured rib here Sunday, when he was struck by a baggage motor truck. He was taken to the Lynchburg hospital.

Lynchburg.—Leo Woodruff, a 18-year-old negro boy of Coleman's Falls, was brought to a hospital here Sunday suffering with a leg crushed, which he hurt while riding a freight train there. The boy's mother is employed at the Union Bellwy Station here.

Petersburg.—In the Chesterfield county court, Judge Ernest White presiding, H. G. White was given two months in jail and fined $100 for violation of the prohibition laws. John Wright was given two months and fined $50 for the same offenses.

Danville.—C. E. Clark, superintendent of the spinning and cording departments of the Riverside and Dan River Mills, has been elected president of the "senate" of Schoolfield, at a meeting held for organization purposes. Two other nominations were made, B. H. Rodgers and L. J. Rushton, who hold the post once before.

Lynchburg.—The iron mines in northern Pittsylvania county, which have not been worked for several years, have begun a force of men at work in them, and for reinstating between Pittsville and Gretna, is being rehabilitated so that the output may be moved to Gretna for delivery to the Southern Railway.

Lynchburg.—E. A. Rolf, engineer for the Norfolk and Western, was here Monday from the general offices of that system at Roanoke, in conference with R. W. B. Hart, director of the municipal department of public works, relative to erection of a new bridge over the Durham branch of the Norfolk and Western, in Park avenue here.

Lynchburg.—J. A. Barham, a Main street tailor here, is in jail awaiting the action of South Carolina authorities to secure requisition for him, on charge of the larceny of bolts of suitings valued at $650, which he is alleged to have ordered here and reshipped to be sold for his own personal use. The larceny is alleged to have been committed July 30.

Lynchburg.—Reports from the counties contiguous to Lynchburg show that tobacco has made a remarkable growth and improvement during the past few days, this being one of the results of the end of the long drought. In sections where the crop looked unpromising ten days ago it is now expected to yield good tobacco, and estimates of the output now are much higher than a few days ago.

Lynchburg.—Frank Gauldin, white, was sentenced to thirty days at the city farm in the Municipal Court on charge of having violated provisions of parole as a habitual drunkard. His is the first white man to go down under recent determination of Judge Whitaker to break up a small coterie of white men who are frequently before that court on charges of being drunk.

Newport News.—The Virginia Peninsula is the greatest section in the world for the development of the air service, and has the greatest possibilities for the enlargement of the defense and commercial sides of the air activities, according to the opinion of Brigadier-General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the United States Army air service delivered in a talk to the Hampton Rotary Club.

Lynchburg.—The Lynchburg Post, No. 18, American Legion, has selected the following delegates in the State convention to be held at Fredericksburg September 3-5: A. D. Barksdale, Dr. John M. Robeson, R. Chees Moore, A. F. Craddock, Jr., A. T. Quicksburg, and A. S. Burnham. The alternates are: John W. James, Henry B. McWane, Charles F. Cox, N. B. Guggenheimer, John Barksdale and E. L. Carrington.

Lynchburg.—An epidemic of "sore mouth," or mycotic stomatis, in a twenty-five mile radius of Lynchburg during the past few weeks has given local veterinarians no small work. The trouble is said to be due to stock eating dry grass and, it is believed, the end of the drought will mean an end to the epidemic. As far as is known here the epidemic caused no cows to die, though many of them were attacked by it.

Lynchburg.—Mrs. G. L. Barnett, of this city, has been advised that she won the second prize, a bronze medal, for best display of domestic flowers. First prize was won, it is understood here, by Miss Margaret F. Shaw, of the department of botany, Vassar College.

Lynchburg.—An automobile driven by Carroll Ould, of Rustburg, ran over and killed a small negro girl a day or two ago at Madisonville, Charlotte county. The child was crossing a highway on her way to a store to buy candy when the accident occurred.

Fredericksburg.—Horace Edward Cox, aged 71 years, died here. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Josephine Shelton-Cox, and four sons, Edgar W., H. Hlalne, C. Byrd and Willie S. Cox, all of this city; one brother, John Cox, of Summit, Va., and three sisters, Mrs. Willie Ballard, Mrs. Roels Henderson, of King George, and Mrs. Jennie Jones, of Massaponax, Va., also several grandchildren and many relatives.

Lynchburg.—In addition to disclosing a gain of $460,000 in taxes over the levy a year ago, the 1923 municipal tax assessment, which has just been completed here by D. L. Taylor, commissioner of the revenue, shows a decrease of fifty-six male negroes in the capitation assessment, white white men increased 322. Some of the items of the assessment are: realty, $27,760,611; tangible personalty, $9,471,926; bonds, $4,278,813; capital and stock, $12,727,567, and bank stocks, $5,017,365. The actual taxes will be $819,624 for 1923 and $573,775.14 in 1922.

Winchester.—It is feared the death of President Harding will have the effect of delaying the appointment of a postmaster here to succeed J. William Bibert, Democrat, whose term is about to expire, and who is anxious to be relieved of the duties of postmaster August 15, and it was expected that successor would be named soon after Mr. Harding returned from his West trip. Mr. Bibert already has formed a company to engage in the apple exporting business and has established business connections in many English markets. The company will operate, as originally planned, but he will not be able to give it undivided attention until a new postmaster is selected. There are two known applicants, Assistant Postmaster Hunter N. Kern and Deputy Internal Revenue Collector William B. Ryan, former chairman of the Republican city committee. The Winchester postoffice is an office of the first class. Mr. Bibert already has served about eight years as postmaster.

Winchester.—With a conservatively estimated production of approximately 50,000 barrels of apples this fall, State Senator H. F. Byrd, of this city, will have the largest crop of any individual grower in Virginia, according to the best information available. Mr. Byrd's orchards are situated in Frederick, Clark and Shenandoah Counties. His apples include standard varieties, such as York Imperial, Ben Davis, Winesap, Jonathans, Grimes Golden and oldtime Winesaps. The crop in Virginia, York County, which usually produces 25 per cent. of the State's commercial apple crop, will be slightly more than 400,000 barrels, which will be about 50 per cent. of a normal crop in the Winchester district. While lacking in quantity this year, the quality is declared to be the best since 1918. The apples are entirely free of all fungus diseases, as well as insects. The recent rains have done much good toward their development. It is expected the harvest will be a trifle late, and winter apples do not promise to mature until about September 20. Grimes Golden and Jonathan varieties give promise of maturing about the 10th of next month.

Lexington.—Beginning with the next session at the Virginia Military Institute, there will be laid the foundation of a new department, that of metallurgical and mining engineering. Announcement to this effect has just been made by General E. W. Nichols in connection with a statement of the appointment of Dr. Edward Holdtmann to succeed the late Colonel Beverley Tucker in the chair of geology and metallurgy. General Nichols said that for some time the institute authorities had been looking forward to the time when it would be feasible to start courses that would mark the beginning, in a broad and comprehensive way and more extensively than similar courses have been given heretofore, of a distinct department of metallurgical and mining engineering. It now seems that the time has come to begin the organization of such a department of scientific instruction, especially since the next session will see the inauguration of the late Colonel Tucker's successor in a chair Colonel Tucker filled with distinction for many years. The V. M. I. summer school is now in session at Rockbridge Baths, under the immediate direction of Colonel Francis Mallory. Associated with him are a number of members of the regular institute faculty. The summer session will end on August 25 and examinations for matriculation and for those who have back work to make up will continue until September 1. The regular academic and military work of the new session will begin on September 3.

Norfolk.—Irving Cooper, young pharmacist, was fatally wounded when he stopped at a garage to use a telephone. Wake F. Madison, aged 16, in charge of the garage, was cleaning a revolver and accidentally discharged the weapon, the bullet penetrating Cooper's back and emerging through the abdomen. Cooper died a few hours later, after absolving Madison of blame. Cooper was a member of this year's graduating class in pharmacy of the Medical College of Virginia. One of his brothers was killed in a street car wreck here several years ago.

Outside Work Nearly Completed.

Bricklayers are gradually nearing the top of the fireproof State office building being constructed in the southeast corner of Capitol Square. There are about three and one-half stories yet to have the outside brick placed, and when this is completed the interior work will be pushed with rapidity.

Commander Is Invited.

Major Anthon Stephen, commander of the Twenty-ninth Division, has been invited by Adjutant-General W. W. Sale to visit the Virginia National Guard troops at Virginia Beach during the two-week encampment period of the One Hundred and Eighty-third Infantry, which begins next Sunday. Governor R. Lee Trinkle is expected to be at the camp August 27 and 28. A report from the rifle range, where a number of Virginia guardsmen are studying to become instructors, shows that work is progressing.

To My Friends Of Appomattox County

At the Democratic Primary which was held on August 7th, 1923, my loyal friends gave me a majority of 116 votes. Permit me to thank all of you for standing by me in the staunch and enthusiastic manner in which you did. I am proud of this nomination and I have not words at my command to express to you my gratitude when the news was brought to me that I had been nominated by a safe majority. I have tried to serve the people of this old county in the past and will endeavor to serve you in the future to the best of my ability. Again I thank you and will at all times feel highly honored at the friendship and confidence bestowed in me.

Sincerely,
R. F. BURKE.

The Value of Shadows.

Reflections and shadows form an important aid to decoration. The shadow of a spray of roses or a group of tall grasses against a light wall or table is very beautiful. So is the reflection of a well-planned group of furniture or pottery in a mirror. A gray silhouette of a vine is sometimes painted on the window shade of a sun room to give the effect of a shadow.
